

YANKS STRIKE WITHIN 13 MILES OF COLOGNE

The War Today..

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE MODERATE resistance thus far encountered by the Western Allies in their great Rhineland offensive is a welcome but surprising circumstance which is far from self-explanatory.

Unless the German defense is wholly unequal to the task of making a stand against the terrific striking-power that Gen. Eisenhower is employing, we must expect Nazi Field Marshal Von Rundstedt to counter-attack shortly. In fact such counter blows normally would have been delivered already. This calls for reserves, and the position hinges on whether the greatly weakened Hitlerites have them. If Rundstedt lacks reserves, then he is indeed in mortal danger, for both his flanks are being turned while his center is being hit by American First and Ninth army forces which Berlin estimates at 600,000.

The Nazi marshal's alternative to making a stand on the Cologne plain would be to withdraw across the Rhine. As I previously have explained, this crossing would be a most hazardous operation, since it would expose a retreating army to the full fury of the Allied air power. It is Eisenhower's hope that the Germans will stand and fight west of the Rhine, so that he may annihilate them. We shall know soon how the wind blows, for our spearhead striking for the great Rhineish rail center of Cologne already is within sight of its spires.

The Allied position naturally grows stronger with each passing hour. Our big job at the outset is to rush supplies across the flooded Roer river to keep our armies moving. Our capture of Dueren—key city on the Roer—in hand-to-hand fighting will vastly facilitate the movement of equipment and supplies of all sorts. Things are going well.

Meantime the Russians are getting set for what may be the final drive to reach Berlin. The focal point of their attack is likely to be south-east of the capital across the Neisse river and through the city of Cottbus. While they are maneuvering for position in this sector, they are making a further drive into Pomerania to lessen the danger of a German counter-attack against the Red northern flank when the push against Berlin is in full swing.

As this Allied vise of death tightens about Nazidom, Fuehrer Hitler is trying to buttress the fortitude of his people with the philosophy of despair that the country already has taken so bad a beating "there is no greater terror in store for us". He undoubtedly recognizes that this is a heavy understatement of fact, since only now are the Allies in position to exact full payment for their long spade-work. That payment is going to be tough on the debtors.

In this connection I call your attention to the terrible blows which are being directed against the Reich by the "invisible front"—the air. Ever since Hitler embarked on his scheme to enslave Europe he has had as his ace-in-the-hole (just in case something went wrong and he had to fall back on the defensive) his so-called inner-fortress. That comprised the heavily fortified frontiers of the Reich within which he would be safe from all the armies of the world—or so he thought. But the Hitlerian intuition overlooked that while his fortress had powerful walls, it did not have a roof.

Now the Allied bombing fleets—

Leathernecks To The Rescue

Through a hail of lead, 4th division Marines storm ashore to reinforce their hard-pressed buddies engaged in the bloodiest fighting in the history of the Marine Corps on Iwo Jima. In background is a wrecked Jap gunboat. ## IMPERIL IWO AIRFIELD NO. 2

Three Marine Divisions Aided By Airplanes In Big Push

(By Associated Press)

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEAD-QUARTERS, Guam, Feb. 26.—Capture of Iwo Jima's second airfield, in the center of the strategic little island, was imminent today as three Marine divisions drove north with considerable air support.

This stiffest fight of the Pacific war went into its second week with the Yanks holding almost half the island, 750 miles south of Tokyo, and making inexorable progress northward.

The Devil Dogs, already on the main airfield in the southern part of Iwo, captured the east-west runway of the central Iwo fighter field (Motoyama No. 2) late yesterday and enveloped two thirds of the north-south runway after a day of heavy fighting.

Their assault followed a preliminary bombardment by artillery and warship batteries. Carrier planes and Marianas based Liberator heavy bombers gave close support to the ground forces.

U. S. Casualties 5,372

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced the push today in a communique which made no further mention of the second heavy strike by Fifth fleet carrier planes against the Tokyo area this month.

The count of Japanese dead on Iwo reached 2,837 by noon yesterday. This tabulation showed only 28 more than the 2,799 total reported the day before. The enemy garrison was estimated at 20,000 on D-day.

The last report on American casualties was 5,372 dead, wounded and missing up to 6 p. m. Wednesday.

Nimitz announced that the 3rd, 4th and 5th Marine divisions of Maj. Gen. Harry Schmidt's Fifth Amphibious Corps launched their big attack "after preliminary bom-

TOKYO ROCKED BY SUPERFORT BOMB ATTACK

Heaviest Raid To Date Is Delivered In Coordin- ated Assault

(By Associated Press)

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEAD-QUARTERS, Guam, Feb. 26.—Industrial targets in the Tokyo area and elsewhere on Japan's main island of Honshu took a powerful one-two punch from American aerial might yesterday as wave after wave of carrier-based planes roared over followed by more than 200 Superfortresses—largest B-29 fleet ever assembled.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' communique today made no further mention of the carrier strike—maintaining the same silence which followed the Fifth fleet's carrier smash against Tokyo Feb. 16, 17.

Radio Tokyo said 1,600 carrier planes and 165 sky giants made the aerial attacks Sunday. Subsequently Tokyo trained the carrier planes to 600. The War department reported more than 200 Superfortresses participated. All returned. The Superfortresses dropped bombs and incendiaries for two hours through a heavy snowfall.

Damage was done to airfields, military installations and transportation facilities in the Tokyo area. Radio Tokyo said, adding "bombs started fires in various sections" but "they were almost entirely quelled by nightfall."

Bombs Fall Near Palace

Bombs fell in an area adjacent to the guard house at the gates of Onkyu palace, residence of the Emperor Dowager Sadako and the bureau of the Imperial Stables, the Japanese said.

Premier Kuniaki Koiso made a second call on Emperor Hirohito today on behalf of the cabinet, this time to "offer our profound apologies for the unforgivable negligence in the approach of danger to his person."

Exploiting the Japanese fleet's reluctance to come out and fight, Radio Tokyo said "the fleet has adopted the strategy of operating within the radius of action of land-based aircraft."

"It is technically impracticable for our land-based aerial formations to deal decisive blows to the American naval forces so long as the enemy task forces remain at a distance near the broadest expanse of the sea," it said. "But if they venture into waters near our coast, the air units of the Japanese army and navy will find themselves in a favorable position."

During Adm. Raymond A. Spruance's first Fifth fleet strike against Tokyo on U. S. surface unit closed to within 10 miles of the Japanese mainland.

Despite the inclement weather, the huge Superfortress armada returned to their Marianas base without incident. Pilots said today they encountered no fighter interception, and ack-ack was light.

Abbie, the American broadcasting station in Europe, reported that 25,000 square yards of the heart of Tokyo was ablaze from the carrier and Superfort raids.

Jap Sterilization Plan Urged By Solon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Rep. Johnson (D-Okla.) has proposed that congress authorize the sterilization of Japanese aliens held in U. S. segregation camps.

His suggestion became public today in testimony released by the house appropriations committee considering the resettlement of enemy aliens.

"I will say for the record—and I want to be sure that it stays on the record—that we should make an appropriation to sterilize the whole outfit," Johnson told his fellow committee members.

The Oklahoman criticized what he termed the "pampering" of Japanese war prisoners.

The remarks came during a committee hearing on plans to close the enemy alien segregation centers and return to private life most of the 112,000 persons of Japanese ancestry who were hustled into custody when the war broke out.

The government has released and resettled about 37,000 of the Japanese residents who were taken from their homes and placed in segregation centers after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Another 16,000 will be released by mid-year, and by the end of 1945 all but one of the nine camps will be closed.

Red Cross Workers Will Hear Akron Man, Plan War Fund Campaign

When team captains and workers of the 1945 Red Cross War Fund drive meet at 7:30 tonight in the Memorial building, they will be addressed by Charles L. Carruthers of Akron, who has been Red Cross program director in the Pacific for about two years.

On leave of absence from the sales department of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Carruthers joined Red Cross in May, 1943, and went to the Southwest Pacific the following month.

He was assigned as program director to one of the largest clubs in Sydney, Australia, for six months, then was transferred to Melbourne for two months. Then came his appointment as area director of recreation for Sydney, New Castle, Melbourne, Adelaide and Perth.

He returned Jan. 1, 1945, being on rotation leave. His next assignment will take him to England or France, it is expected.

In charge of tonight's meeting will be E. S. Dawson, chairman of Salem chapter, and Carl F. Williams, campaign chairman. A special Red Cross film will be shown and supplies distributed to workers following last minute instructions.

The team workers will start out Tuesday morning to cover every section and activity of the city in a week's effort to raise Salem's quota of $82,500.

68 'Angels' Of Bataan Flown To U. S. From Philippines

By NORMAN BELL
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Feb. 26.—Back in their homeland after three years of war and captivity, 68 "Angels" of Bataan and Corregidor rested at the Army's Letterman General hospital here today.

Most of the valiant army nurses and technicians and the one Red Cross worker, who arrived Saturday by Air Transport command planes from the Philippines, hope to visit their homes as soon as possible.

The majority, while under normal weight, appeared to be in fairly good health.

Only 14 were litter cases, including veteran Senior Chief Nurse Maj. Maude Davidson, 59.

Most of the repatriated nurses had new wrist watches to replace the ones taken from them by the Japanese when they were captured on Corregidor May 6, 1942.

Some declared they would like to return to the Philippines and on to Japan when that enemy homeland is invaded.

Gladbach Just 6 Miles Away From U.S. 9th

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Two American armies sped five miles across the Rhine valley today in tanks and on foot to within 13 miles of Cologne and within six miles of the great Ruhr arsenal and its border city of Buechen Gladbach.

Early tonight, the Ninth army fought into the communications center of Erkelenz, seven miles from Muenchen Gladbach and the Ruhr district.

A cluster of nearby villages was captured.

In the center of the Western front, the American Third army reached the Nims river near Bittsburg. The fortress city of Trier was outflanked by other units which advanced five miles east of Saarburg. The Canadian First army applied heavier pressure on the Ruhr from the northwest.

SEE THREAT OF MINERS STRIKE

Lewis' Committee Opens Negotiations For New Wage Contract

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers policy committee served notice today under the Smith-Connally act today of the possibility of a bituminous coal strike in 30 days.

The bituminous contract expires March 31 and negotiations with the operators begin Thursday. The policy committee gathered today to formulate demands for a new contract. The strike notice was the first action of the meeting.

Lewis, in a letter to Secretary of Labor Perkins said:

"In order to protect our membership under the terms of this act, this letter is now directed to you as formal notice that a labor dispute exists within the meaning of the act, as interpreted by this committee, between the United Mine Workers of America and the bituminous coal operators of this country."

Pledge Work Support

"This notice is not intended to apply to any bituminous coal mine now under governmental seizure and control."

"To the end and for the purpose of procuring a new basic wage agreement for the industry, we will work diligently and forthrightly for the ensuing 30 days to prevent, if possible, any interruption of coal production so vital to the prosecution of the war in which our country is now engaged, and to which we pledge our full devotion."

Lewis issued a denunciation of the Smith-Connally act, enacted in the summer of 1943 after Lewis had engaged in strikes over his last contract.

He said "the mine workers are thus coerced into giving this notice even though such conditions as above described may be forced by the very issuance of the notice itself."

Lewis quoted President Roosevelt as saying on June 25, 1943, that the act, which he vetoed but which was passed over his veto, would "force a labor leader who is trying to prevent a strike in accordance with his no strike pledge, to give the notice which would cause the taking of a strike ballot and might actually precipitate a strike."

The mine leader said failure to give the notice "would make us violators of the law and subject to all its civil and criminal pains and penalties."

Homeworth Youth Hurt In Route 62 Accident

Glenn Gardner, 15, of Homeworth, received a possible broken leg when he was involved in an auto accident on Route 62, a half mile west of Salem, at 12:20 a. m. Sunday morning.

Gardner was injured when a car in which he was riding, driven by Eimer Corver, 18, also of Homeworth, skidded on ice and crashed into a guard rail. Corver was uninjured, but Gardner was taken to the Salem City hospital.

After the collision, the car caught fire and the Salem department was called to extinguish the blaze.

Defends Action Of Using Youngsters In Combat

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) contended today the War department is justified by military necessity in sending 18-year-old draftees into combat with eight months of training.

Replying to a demand by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) for clarification of the department's policies, Hill said he was informed the young inductees were shipped overseas only after the army had drained all the men it could from more experienced divisions in training in this country.

Taft was ready to cite in the senate today the case of Pfc. Robert R. Pogue of Cincinnati, his friend, Taft said Pogue, 18, was reported killed in action in France on Feb. 3, a little more than seven months after he had been inducted into the army.

A Share In Kindness

Nothing in life is more difficult for peace-loving people to bear than war with all its grim horror, its unending trail of sorrow, its disruption of homes and its utter waste of life and property. Yet the people of this nation are in the fourth year of the world's most horrible war.

Each day more blue stars in service flags turn to gold as this son, that brother or that father falls on a distant battlefield. Each day hundreds of men are carried back to hospitals with grievous wounds. Each is a member of some American family. Thousands of American men in uniform are tired beyond belief of battle, and homesick for home and family. Yet they know they must keep on.

There is none of us but would give everything to lighten the burden of sorrowing families who have lost their men, or calm the fears of those whose men have been wounded. We would give all we could to ease the pain of the injured, or still the homesickness in those who must fight on.

Today, as the American Red Cross opens its campaign in Salem for funds, we can do our share in lightening the burden of sorrow, in calming the fears, and in easing the pain of the wounded.

The Red Cross was created just for that purpose and through its channels of mercy we can do most for those who need our help.

The Red Cross is at the front keeping alive the atmosphere of home for the men who are fighting; the Red Cross is in the hospitals cheering the wounded and sending messages home to anxious and fearful relatives; the Red Cross is sending blood plasma and surgical dressings to save the lives of American youth; the Red Cross is keeping alive the hopes of the prisoners in war camps; the Red Cross is here at home to assist families in distress.

This is your Red Cross and through it you can do your share in human kindness and blunt somewhat the horror that is war.

Circumstantial Evidence

German reports that the big push on the western front has begun is based on circumstantial evidence.

Marshal Montgomery has given his troops one of his famous just-before-the-battle pep talks. Marshal Stalin, who is noted for saying as little as possible, has told his troops that victory draws near.

Allied air power has been hitting German targets with virtually everything that can be borne aloft and dropped to good effect, with special attention to railroads, one of the prime targets in tactical operations.

On the western front itself no particular secret has been made of the fact, already well known to the Germans, that feverish attempts have been made to overcome the handicap of von Rundstedt's surprise offensive in the Ardennes sector last December.

Secretary of War Stimson has hinted broadly in a public interview that important offensive action is imminent. Turkey, which has maintained a tenuous neutrality throughout the war, has yielded to Great Britain's request that it join the Allies. Egypt is about to do likewise.

And the calendar is moving close to March 1, a month earlier than the traditional month for opening spring offensives but not too soon for the more mobile weapons being used in World War II.

It is an imposing array of circumstantial evidence that the Germans have noted and used for the basis of their conclusion—so imposing that even Americans, who learned late last year not to take circumstantial evidence too seriously, are inclined to jump at the same conclusion. The end of the war with Germany is not in sight, but the beginning of the end seems to be just around the corner.

Sub-Global Conferences

Two conferences taking place without fanfare may tell as much about the prospects of international security as the conference of the Big Three at Yalta. In Mexico City, the American republics are seeking a common understanding of their problems. In Cairo, a Pan-Arab conference is exploring the possibilities of Arabic federation in the Middle East.

The immediate security of the United States and Great Britain are involved in these meetings. The United States, as the strongest nation of the New World, wants and is determined to have an understanding among the component parts of the New World on the principles of the Monroe Doctrine, its most consistent objective in foreign policy. Great Britain seeks—and presumably does so with the support of the United States—an understanding in the Middle East. While it is not participating in the Pan-Arab conference, its interests are directly concerned.

A further clue to British interest there is furnished by a thoughtful speculation appearing in William B. Ziff's most recent book, "The Gentlemen Talk of Peace". Mr. Ziff believes Britain's genius for survival will cause it to turn to Africa and that it can find there, if given enough time, the resources to restore the declining power of its scattering empire. With their great capacity for administration, the British might find in the population of the Dark Continent all manpower needed to bring them abreast of their industrial rivals.

Verbal Fisticuffs

The sensational occurrence of fisticuffs on the floor of the House between a conservative Southern Democrat and a radical Michigan member of the New Deal bloc is an anti-climax. The wild swinging staged by Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi and Rep. Frank E. Hook of Michigan last Thursday was mild stuff compared to the verbal blows which are almost a daily feature of legislative routine by them and like-minded congressmen.

It would be a mistake to ignore what lies behind their bad blood. It is one of the most irreconcilable issues in American politics—the issue between the conservative Democrats of the South who have held the party together in its lean years and the radical Democrats of the industrial North who, in alliance with the political front of the C.I.O., are aiming to take over the party in its vintage years.

They are the extremes of the shaky condition Franklin D. Roosevelt has held together after a fashion since 1933. There have been few actual fist fights, but never any lack of bad blood. As legislators, Rep. Rankin and Rep. Hook have apologized for striking each other, but each has come out of the fracas more determined than ever to destroy each other in some more discreet manner.

No Economy In War

Reassurance furnished indirectly by Secretary of War Stimson that equipment in Europe will be transferred to the Pacific to the extent of the War department's ability to use it effectively glosses over but does not eliminate the shock caused by previous statement by an anonymous official that most war material in Europe would be abandoned there.

In all probability, that is exactly what will happen, reassurances to the contrary notwithstanding. There is no economy in war. Myriads of trucks, tanks, guns and countless thousands of articles transported to Europe to fight the Italians and Germans cannot be used effectively in the war with Japan. They will represent waste to the United States—salvage to Europeans.

By the same token, when the war with Japan has been won, much of the equipment that made victory possible will be abandoned—salvage for the peoples of the Pacific area. Even if the war material were to be brought back, which might seem to be the rational decision as far as economy is concerned, the cost of the shipping entailed might prove to be vastly greater than the value of the material.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, February 27.

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects of important planets, this may be a day of perplexity, contradictions and surprising situations of an unprecedented nature. It will require deep analysis of these peculiar circumstances in which there may be crafty manipulation or dangerous encounters or reversals of superiors or others in power and authority. Much discretion, deep insight and unusual study or underlying factor may turn the balance into lucrative and gratifying culminations, worthwhile friends assisting generously.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a sudden adventure in which worthwhile future developments depend upon the astute, ingenious and possibly radical methods of turning aside difficult situations in which those in power seem to be antagonistic. This by shrewd insight into basic reasons for such opposition, together with prudence and discretion in word and act. The tide of fortune may suddenly turn aside by the understanding and hearty support of a good friend of social or financial standing. Shun accident and erratic behavior. Let mind rather than emotions hold sway for best results.

Problem of Diabetes During Pregnancy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

IN RECENT years, we have learned much about diabetes. One of the things we know is that certain types of diabetes are mild. This is particularly true when the disease occurs in middle-aged or older persons. But in young women of the child-bearing age, the disease is usually present in its more severe form.

Diabetes is a condition in which there is too little secretion of insulin from the pancreas, and insulin is needed for the use of sugars by the body. At present no cure for diabetes is known, but, with proper treatment, the condition can be well controlled.

Young persons who develop diabetes often inquire of the physician as to whether or not they should marry and have children. It is true that there is some tendency for diabetes to run in families. If two persons who are diabetic marry, it is probable that the children also will suffer from the disease.

If a woman with diabetes becomes pregnant, she requires special care throughout this period. If she has sickness of the stomach in the earlier weeks of the child-bearing time, there also may be vomiting, which means that the food intake will be upset, and hence the diabetes may become worse. For this reason she must be prepared to stay in the hospital for prolonged periods of time, so that the acidosis, which follows persistent vomiting, may be kept under control. This acidosis may be controlled by injecting sugar and fluids into a vein and by giving injections of insulin when required.

It has been noted that the toxemia or poisoning of pregnancy occurs more frequently in the diabetic woman than in the normal one. Thus, the diabetic mother-to-be should be seen often by the physician, so that the early signs of toxemia—such as too rapid gain in weight, headache, swelling of the legs, and the presence of albumin in the urine—may be promptly discovered and treated.

It has also been noted that babies born of diabetic mothers have a greater chance of dying early in life than do other infants. Frequently the baby is born before the normal time. Less than half of the diabetic women have a living, healthy baby.

If the baby is born alive, the first few days of life are the most dangerous ones. During this period, the baby may develop a too low blood sugar, due to an excessive amount of insulin in the blood stream. It is therefore advisable that these infants be given a weak sugar solution by mouth; injections of glucose solution under the skin may also be used.

All of these things come down to one point: A woman with diabetes has greater difficulty during pregnancy and has a greater chance of losing her baby, but, with proper care, it is possible to overcome these difficulties.

A Share in Kindness

Nothing in life is more difficult for peace-loving people to bear than war with all its grim horror, its unending trail of sorrow, its disruption of homes and its utter waste of life and property. Yet the people of this nation are in the fourth year of the world's most horrible war.

Each day more blue stars in service flags turn to gold as this son, that brother or that father falls on a distant battlefield. Each day hundreds of men are carried back to hospitals with grievous wounds. Each is a member of some American family. Thousands of American men in uniform are tired beyond belief of battle, and homesick for home and family. Yet they know they must keep on.

There is none of us but would give everything to lighten the burden of sorrowing families who have lost their men, or calm the fears of those whose men have been wounded. We would give all we could to ease the pain of the injured, or still the homesickness in those who must fight on.

Today, as the American Red Cross opens its campaign in Salem for funds, we can do our share in lightening the burden of sorrow, in calming the fears, and in easing the pain of the wounded.

The Red Cross was created just for that purpose and through its channels of mercy we can do most for those who need our help.

The Red Cross is at the front keeping alive the atmosphere of home for the men who are fighting; the Red Cross is in the hospitals cheering the wounded and sending messages home to anxious and fearful relatives; the Red Cross is sending blood plasma and surgical dressings to save the lives of American youth; the Red Cross is keeping alive the hopes of the prisoners in war camps; the Red Cross is here at home to assist families in distress.

This is your Red Cross and through it you can do your share in human kindness and blunt somewhat the horror that is war.

Circumstantial Evidence

German reports that the big push on the western front has begun is based on circumstantial evidence.

Marshal Montgomery has given his troops one of his famous just-before-the-battle pep talks. Marshal Stalin, who is noted for saying as little as possible, has told his troops that victory draws near.

Allied air power has been hitting German targets with virtually everything that can be borne aloft and dropped to good effect, with special attention to railroads, one of the prime targets in tactical operations.

On the western front itself no particular secret has been made of the fact, already well known to the Germans, that feverish attempts have been made to overcome the handicap of von Rundstedt's surprise offensive in the Ardennes sector last December.

Secretary of War Stimson has hinted broadly in a public interview that important offensive action is imminent. Turkey, which has maintained a tenuous neutrality throughout the war, has yielded to Great Britain's request that it join the Allies. Egypt is about to do likewise.

And the calendar is moving close to March 1, a month earlier than the traditional month for opening spring offensives but not too soon for the more mobile weapons being used in World War II.

It is an imposing array of circumstantial evidence that the Germans have noted and used for the basis of their conclusion—so imposing that even Americans, who learned late last year not to take circumstantial evidence too seriously, are inclined to jump at the same conclusion. The end of the war with Germany is not in sight, but the beginning of the end seems to be just around the corner.

Sub-Global Conferences

Two conferences taking place without fanfare may tell as much about the prospects of international security as the conference of the Big Three at Yalta. In Mexico City, the American republics are seeking a common understanding of their problems. In Cairo, a Pan-Arab conference is exploring the possibilities of Arab federation in the Middle East.

The immediate security of the United States and Great Britain are involved in these meetings. The United States, as the strongest nation of the New World, wants and is determined to have an understanding among the component parts of the New World on the principles of the Monroe Doctrine, its most consistent objective in foreign policy. Great Britain seeks—and presumably does so with the support of the United States—an understanding in the Middle East. While it is not participating in the Pan-Arab conference, its interests are directly concerned.

A further clue to British interest there is furnished by a thoughtful speculation appearing in William B. Ziff's most recent book, "The Gentlemen Talk of Peace". Mr. Ziff believes Britain's genius for survival will cause it to turn to Africa and that it can find there, if given enough time, the resources to restore the declining power of its scattering empire. With their great capacity for administration, the British might find in the population of the Dark Continent all manpower needed to bring them abreast of their industrial rivals.

Verbal Fisticuffs

The sensational occurrence of fisticuffs on the floor of the House between a conservative Southern Democrat and a radical Michigan member of the New Deal bloc is an anti-climax. The wild swinging staged by Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi and Rep. Frank E. Hook of Michigan last Thursday was mild stuff compared to the verbal blows which are almost a daily feature of legislative routine by them and like-minded congressmen.

It would be a mistake to ignore what lies behind their bad blood. It is one of the most irreconcilable issues in American politics—the issue between the conservative Democrats of the South who have held the party together in its lean years and the radical Democrats of the industrial North who, in alliance with the political front of the C.I.O., are aiming to take over the party in its vintage years.

They are the extremes of the shaky condition Franklin D. Roosevelt has held together after a fashion since 1933. There have been few actual fist fights, but never any lack of bad blood. As legislators, Rep. Rankin and Rep. Hook have apologized for striking each other, but each has come out of the fracas more determined than ever to destroy each other in some more discreet manner.

No Economy in War

Reassurance furnished indirectly by Secretary of War Stimson that equipment in Europe will be transferred to the Pacific to the extent of the War Department's ability to use it effectively glosses over but does not eliminate the shock caused by previous statement by an anonymous official that most war material in Europe would be abandoned there.

In all probability, that is exactly what will happen, reassurances to the contrary notwithstanding. There is no economy in war. Myriads of trucks, tanks, guns and countless thousands of articles transported to Europe to fight the Italians and Germans cannot be used effectively in the war with Japan. They will represent waste to the United States—salvage to Europeans.

By the same token, when the war with Japan has been won, much of the equipment that made victory possible will be abandoned—salvage for the peoples of the Pacific area. Even if the war material were to be brought back, which might seem to be the rational decision as far as economy is concerned, the cost of the shipping entailed might prove to be vastly greater than the value of the material.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, February 27.

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects of important planets, this may be a day of perplexity, contradictions and surprising situations of an unprecedented nature. It will require deep analysis of these peculiar circumstances in which there may be crafty manipulation or dangerous encounters or reversals of superiors or others in power and authority. Much discretion, deep insight and unusual study or underlying factor may turn the balance into lucrative and gratifying culminations, worthwhile friends assisting generously.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a sudden adventure in which worthwhile future developments depend upon the astute, ingenious and possibly radical methods of turning aside difficult situations in which those in power seem to be antagonistic. This by shrewd insight into basic reasons for such opposition, together with prudence and discretion in word and act. The tide of fortune may suddenly turn aside by the understanding and hearty support of a good friend of social or financial standing. Shun accident and erratic behavior. Let mind rather than emotions hold sway for best results.

A child born on this day, although unusually talented, may need early discipline of its emotions and impulses, which may be erratic or wayward.

The scientist who said that apes are superior to men in some ways may have been thinking about the slot machine.

Approach of spring reminds us that no matter how much fun we poke at the onion, it always comes back strong.

Problem of Diabetes During Pregnancy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

IN RECENT years, we have learned much about diabetes. One of the things we know is that certain types of diabetes are mild. This is particularly true when the disease occurs in middle-aged or older persons. But in young women of the child-bearing age, the disease is usually present in its more severe form.

Diabetes is a condition in which there is too little secretion of insulin from the pancreas, and insulin is needed for the use of sugars by the body. At present no cure for diabetes is known, but, with proper treatment the condition can be well controlled.

Young persons who develop diabetes often inquire of the physician as to whether or not they should marry and have children. It is true that there is some tendency for diabetes to run in families. If two persons who are diabetic marry, it is probable that the children also will suffer from the disease.

If a woman with diabetes becomes pregnant, she requires special care throughout this period. If she has sickness of the stomach in the earlier weeks of the child-bearing time, there also may be vomiting, which means that the food intake will be upset and hence the diabetes may become worse. For this reason she must be prepared to stay in the hospital for prolonged periods of time, so that the acidosis, which follows persistent vomiting, may be kept under control. This acidosis may be controlled by injecting sugar and fluids into a vein and by giving injections of insulin when required.

It has been noted that the toxemia or poisoning of pregnancy occurs more frequently in the diabetic woman than in the normal one. Thus, the diabetic mother-to-be should be seen often by the physician, so that the early signs of toxemia—such as too rapid gain in weight, headache, swelling of the legs, and the presence of albumin in the urine—may be promptly discovered and treated.

It has also been noted that babies born of diabetic mothers have a greater chance of dying early in life than do other infants. Frequently the baby is born before the normal time. Less than half of the diabetic women have a living, healthy baby.

If the baby is born alive, the first few days of life are the most dangerous ones. During this period, the baby may develop a too low blood sugar, due to an excessive amount of insulin in the blood stream. It is therefore advisable that these infants be given a weak sugar solution by mouth; injections of glucose solution under the skin may also be used.

All of these things come down to one point: A woman with diabetes has greater difficulty during pregnancy and has a greater chance of losing her baby, but, with proper care, it is possible to overcome these difficulties.

(Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column.)

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE
Beth was still paddling lacka-

brush stood above a large stone beyond the bare earth. The fox came up standing—snarling and fierce—his leg held firmly. Aggie looked about for a suitable club and quickly dispatched his quarry.

The dead animal was a large one. Its coat was rusty with summer and it seemed thin. Domesticated, he thought. Not used to foraging for itself. Which was why he had caught it, no doubt—and precisely why he had hoped to catch it. A wild silver fox would have been far more cautious than this one.

But the fox itself interested Aggie less than the collar it was wearing. A silver-studded, black leather collar. On it was a plate with the familiar initials, "H.H.B." in the familiar script.

Aggie picked up the carcass and then—because he had compunctions about such things—he went back over his whole trap line—a distance of more than three miles—and sprang every trap. It made him very late for dinner.

Plum left the carcass of the fox on the front porch—not without remembering that the monogrammed knife had been stolen from the railing right above the spot. He ignored Aunt Sarah's voice until he had telephoned State Police Headquarters and left word that he would like to see Capt. Wes Wickman. Then he went in, tousled Sarah's hair when she started to lecture him about being late, and ate hungrily.

Sarah tried to get him to talk. "Fine sort of husband you'd make! You'd come home to a poor, dear wife who had spent a hard day in the beauty salon and the department stores—and behave exactly as if she were wallpaper!"

"That reminds me, Beth nixed your invitation to stay here," Sarah studied him. "Well? The details. Come clean!"

"I heard," said Sarah, "that you were out canoeing with her. Did she propose? Notice carefully that I didn't say, 'Did you propose?'"

"She had a stab at it. Told me I was glamorous.... Talked herself out of it."

"A fine girl, Beth. She's warm, intelligent, brave—"

"Mmmm. Beautiful. Good figure. Fine dark hair. Well-educated. Magnificent carriage. Spirit. Dash. Good golfer and tennis player, terrific at table tennis, able swimmer—everything a man like me would need if he had an extra life to give to his country clubs."

Sarah chortled. "At least—Beth's one female in your class that you haven't run away from! That's some progress for me!"

Aggie looked at her with eyes that were singularly penetrating. "I know your game, Miss Plum," he said.

Sarah set down her coffee cup. "Honestly, I believe you do! But—was Beth very disappointed?"

"Search me. She started talking about Ralph. They were thick when I arrived here. They might thicken up again."

When they left the dining room, he took a leather chair near the center table and picked up the evening paper.

Finally Aggie, after a rather long silence, said: "We have dozens of clues—" he heard Wes Wickman's step on the porch—"and I think we'll have another, before much longer! But it's not enough. We haven't let our minds—our imaginations—do sufficient work. We've tried to consider everything by the logic of things." He leaned around his chair. "Hello, Wes! Come in! Bring that fox, out by the steps—will you?"

The trooper came in, carrying the fox by the tail. He held it toward Sarah. "Your nephew's a smart trapper, Sarah. I'd have given him fifty to one he wouldn't have nailed this."

"Bad bet," Aggie said. "It was tame. Well, I see you brought the photos."

Cargo Tonnage At Hampton Roads High

(By United Press)

NORFOLK, Va.—Hampton Roads, home of the huge Naval Operating Base here, performed a near unbelievable task for the war effort in 1944, it has been announced by Walter W. Schenck, Atlantic coast director for the War Shipping Administration.

The big shipping center moved over 37,500,000 tons of dry and bulk liquid cargoes during the year. Included were 25,000,000 tons of dry cargo and 12,750,000 of bulk liquid tonnage.

Emphasizing the gain over previous years, Schenck pointed out that the dry cargo alone represented an increase of 70 per cent over the 1943 tonnage.

A total of 4,858 ships cleared from the port, compared with 3,148 in 1943.

The Hampton Roads figures were the third largest for East Coast ports with New York leading the parade and followed by Philadelphia. However the Hampton Roads area was second in number of ships departing.

An increase of 20 per cent in the number of ships available for cargo transport and improved efficiency in berthing, loading and unloading, manning, repairing and general servicing ships cut down the "turn about" time between arrival and departure.

Another big factor in the tonnage increase was the double duty employment of tankers equipped to carry oil below decks and dry cargo on so-called "false decks." Such use of these extra decks accounted for carrying space of 134,164,678 cubic feet of dry cargo space which equaled the carrying capacity of 375 Liberty ships.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

Beth was still paddling lacka-dically offshore. She pushed into the shallows. He took her place and sat against the backrest.

She eventually broke his extended silence. "There is pollen on your bathing trunks. By that I deduce you've been walking in a field.
There is only one field nearby—the one around the gazebo. Did you find out anything of sinister import?"

Aggie smiled. "Maybe."
"But you're not telling?"
He shook his head.
"I think," Beth said, in a different tone, "I won't take up Sarah's invitation to be house guest. You're quite right, Aggie. I'm not your type. You're not mine." She sighed.
"You tell Sarah, will you?"

Aggie was jolted from his abstraction. "What?"
She smiled. "Never mind. I will."
Beth added, later, "Ralph is the very right sort—after all—I suppose."

She was surprised when he looked up. "Ralph? I want to ask about Ralph. I mean—what's he like?"
"He owns an accounting firm. His whole life is an open ledger."
"He took care of the accounting end of your father's business?"
"Some of it," Beth replied. "The honest part."

"He knows about the other part."
Remember the crack he made the night Wes cross-examined the whole club? What was it? About some people report their incomes and others bury them. Do you think he knew about—the gold up here?"

Beth looked thoughtfully into Aggie's eyes. "No doubt he knew Father had other accounts and other funds. Ralph doesn't tell me much about his business. Typically American man-of-affairs with his Don't bother your pretty little head. And he's right, Aggie. It would bore me. Still—"

"Still—what?"
"He's enormously ambitious. Ralph likes money. I know he's worried about my estate. Just his practical point of view. Looked at—from your angle—it seems different.
Ralph's ambition might turn to cupidity, his cupidity to crime.
Still—it's hard to picture him—standing over a victim—with a dripping weapon—Isn't it?"

Aggie thought that Beth was a fairly detached person, on her own account, inasmuch as the picture presented her own father in the role of victim. He said, "If it were easy to imagine a killer doing the deed, it would be a cinch to catch them
all. If I asked you, 'What does a murderer look like?' you'd be hard put to make a successful answer."

"That's right. A murderer—might look like.... me."
Aggie grinned. "Let's hope not.
So—you have no idea that Ralph was aware of the stacked gold?"
"Not the foggiest."

"Was he ever up here in the winter?"
Beth shrugged. "Of course—we all have been—at one time or another. House parties. We'd open a cottage for Christmas, sometimes, when we were younger."

"Last winter, by any chance?"
"I don't think any of the crowd did anything here last winter. Why don't you ask Sarah? She's the timetable and codebook of Indian Stones."

"I will," Aggie said.
The sun had set when Plum returned to Rainbow Lodge. Sarah was taking a nap. Aggie thought of going to his room to read, but another activity enlisted him.

He swung away from Rainbow Lodge on foot. In the patch of fairly heavy woods between it and the club, he pushed through trees and underbrush until he reached a tiny, open place that was covered with leaves. Between the leaves could be seen the jaws of a steel trap. The trap was set—and baited.

Aggie then strolled along the edge of the golf course. He has made four sets at suitable spots in the woods there—but they yielded nothing. So far, he had caught only one red vixen. He followed the humber road toward Garnet Knob.
There were traps under a log, the edge of the brook, in an old run, and beside a spring. The yield was nothing.

Aggie made a mental note that it would be a good idea to take up the trap line soon. His sets along Lower Lake were empty and he almost abandoned the idea of visiting the traps on the other pond.
He went to them, however, and in the next to the last, he discovered unexpected success.

The ground around that trap had been torn up. A silver-tipped black brush stood above a large stone beyond the bare earth. The fox came up standing—snarling and fierce—his leg held firmly. Aggie looked about for a suitable club and quickly dispatched his quarry.

The dead animal was a large one.
Its coat was rusty with summer and it seemed thin. Domesticated, he thought. Not used to foraging for itself. Which was why he had caught it, no doubt—and precisely why he had hoped to catch it. A wild silver fox would have been far more cautious than this one.

But the fox itself interested Aggie less than the collar it was wearing. A silver-studded, black leather collar. On it was a plate with the familiar initials, "H.H.B." in the familiar script.

Aggie picked up the carcass and then—because he had compunctions about such things—he went back over his whole trap line—a distance of more than three miles—and sprang every trap. It made him very late for dinner.

Plum left the carcass of the fox on the front porch—not without remembering that the monogrammed knife had been stolen from the railing right above the spot. He ignored Aunt Sarah's voice until he had telephoned State Police Headquarters and left word that he would like to see Capt. Wes Wickman. Then he went in, tousled Sarah's hair when she started to lecture him about being late, and ate hungrily.

Sarah tried to get him to talk.
"Fine sort of husband you'd make!
You'd come home to a poor, dear wife who had spent a hard day in the beauty salon and the department stores—and behave exactly as if she were wallpaper!"

"That reminds me," Beth nixed your invitation to stay here."
Sarah studied him. "Well? The details. Come clean!"
His face was bland. "Incompatibility. I'm too wild for her. Something."

"I heard," said Sarah, "that you were out canoeing with her. Did she propose? Notice carefully that I didn't say, 'Did you propose?'"
"She had a stab at it. Told me
I was glamorous.... Talked herself out of it."

"A fine girl, Beth. She's warm, intelligent, brave."
"Mmm. Beautiful. Good figure. Fine dark hair. Well-educated.
Magnificent carriage. Spirit. Dash.
Good golfer and tennis player, terrific at table tennis, able swimmer—everything a man like me would need if he had an extra life to give to his country clubs."

Sarah chortled. "At least—Beth's one female in your class that you haven't run away from! That's some progress—for me."
Aggie looked at her with eyes that were singularly penetrating.
"I know your game, Miss Plum," he said.

Sarah set down her coffee cup.
"Honestly, I believe you do! But—was Beth very disappointed?"
"Search me. She started talking about Ralph. They were thick when I arrived here. They might thicken up again."

When they left the dining room, he took a leather chair near the center table and picked up the evening paper.

Finally Aggie, after a rather long silence, said: "We have dozens of clues—he heard Wes Wickman's step on the porch—and I think we'll have another, before much longer! But it's not enough. We haven't let our minds—our imaginations—do sufficient work. We've tried to consider everything by the logic of things." He leaned around his chair. "Hello, Wes! Come in! Bring that fox, out by the steps —will you?"

The trooper came in, carrying the fox by the tail. He held it toward Sarah. "Your nephew's a smart

AMINO ACIDS MARK A BALANCED DIET

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Amino acid products, designed primarily for sick people, unable to get adequate nourishment through regular food sources, may share the same fate as vitamin tablets, it is feared by the American Medical Ass'n.

Amino acids are the most recent discovery of importance made by nutritionists who have learned of the existence of 23 different types. They are protein fractions, spoken of as building blocks for blood, bones and all other body fluids and tissues.

Nutritionists hope that "otherwise intelligent citizens will not create a furor for amino acids as they did for vitamins, by snatching at tablets, capsules and drops to correct everything from toothache to inability to hang pictures straight," Mrs. Miriam Zeller Gross, New York City, declared in the February issue of "Hygeia."

"Like vitamins, amino acids are usually obtained by eating the proper foods," she continued. "Food of animal origin contain all the needed amino acids in varying amounts and combinations, but vegetable proteins supplement those of animal origin."

Scientists point out that the important thing to get from their amino acid findings is the realization that it is necessary to eat a balanced diet; that just getting your carbohydrates, fats and vitamins is not enough, Mrs. Gross added.

One-half pound fresh mushrooms or one cup canned mushrooms, 3 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 cups milk, 4 eggs, toast points.

Peel the mushrooms and cut into rather small pieces. Melt butter or margarine, add mushrooms and cook slowly until slightly tender. Place mushrooms in bottom of well-greased one-quart heat-resistant glass utility dish, leaving mushroom liquid in saucepan or skillet. Add flour, salt and Worcestershire sauce to mushroom liquid, making a smooth paste; add milk, stirring constantly until the sauce is thickened. Pour the sauce over the mushrooms; break eggs and drop each egg gently into the other ingredients in the utility dish. Place toast in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 10 to 12 minutes or until the eggs are quite firm. Serve hot with brown muffins, a crisp salad and tea.

Vegetable souffle takes the place of meat dish.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

By adding grated cheese, milk and eggs to a vegetable dish, you give it enough protein to serve in place of a meat or fish main dish.

Vegetable Souffle (Serves 4-6)

Three tablespoons fat, butter or fortified margarine, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup top milk or light cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 1 cup cooked peas, 1/2 cup chopped uncooked tomato, 3 eggs, separated. Melt the fat and add the flour, blending well together. Add the milk or cream, slowly stirring constantly until the sauce is thickened and smooth. Continue cooking about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cook until lukewarm, add the salt, pepper, grated cheese, cooked peas and uncooked chopped tomato. Beat the yolks until thick; add to the vegetable mixture. Beat the egg whites until stiff; fold gently into the other ingredients and pour into a nine-inch round heat-resistant glass cake dish. Bake in a slow oven (315 deg. F.) about one hour and fifteen minutes. Serve this vegetable souffle in the same dish in which it was baked, to keep the

AMINO ACIDS MARK A BALANCED DIET

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Amino acid products, designed primarily for sick people unable to get adequate nourishment through regular food sources, may share the same fate as vitamin tablets, it is feared by the American Medical Ass'n.

Amino acids are the most recent discovery of importance made by nutritionists who have learned of the existence of 23 different types. They are protein fractions, spoken of as building blocks for blood, bones and all other body fluids and tissues.

Nutritionists hope that "other-wise intelligent citizens will not create a furore for amino acids as they did for vitamins, by snatching at tablets, capsules and drops to correct everything from toothache to inability to hang pictures straight," Mrs. Miriam Zeller Gross, New York City, declared in the February issue of "Hygeia."

"Like vitamins, amino acids are usually obtained by eating the proper foods," she continued. "Food of animal origin contain all the needed amino acids in varying amounts and combinations, but vegetable proteins supplement those of animal origin."

Scientists point out that the important thing to get from their amino acid findings is the realization that it is necessary to eat a balanced diet; that just getting your carbohydrates, fats and vitamins is not enough, Mrs. Gross added.

Holmes Tested Seeds Are Featured By Salona Co.

The seed catalogues are out, many are planning gardens and it's the time to get a serious matter long before the season is over and those that are going to use any quantity certainly should be doing something more about it than just planning.

The Salona Supply Co. will feature the Holmes Fully Tested line again this season as they have for many years in the past, knowing no line is more dependable or economical for as you probably know this line is sold in bulk, no fancy packages.

Farmers are advised to place their orders for corn and oat seed now. Even fertilizer requirements should be arranged for.

The hardware department is well stocked with the ordinary garden hand tools and although the management does not expect any serious shortage along this line the early buyer is certain of his need for it is expected that many who have never made gardens before will this season, and they will cause much extra buying along the hand tool line.

Wiggers Specialize In Brake Adjustment, Repair

To lose their home would be a most serious matter to most families, yet this is exactly what has happened to more than one family because of an automobile accident. The automobile liability law is very strict. It's not hard to get judgment for an accident in court, and that's all that is necessary to force payment, even to the sacrificing of your home.

There are only two safe paths to follow, and they are to keep safely insured and be certain the brakes and other vital safety features of your car are in good mechanical repair.

The principal mechanical fault that causes accidents is faulty brakes. Wiggers' Super Service stations make a specialty of brake adjustments. They are equipped to equalize the brake application so that all wheels work together and with little pressure on the pedal. This work does not take long, nor is the expense great; certainly very, very little compared to the expense that could be caused by neglecting this work even a few minutes.

Insulated Home Ideal In Winter and Summer

In winter an uninsulated home is drafty, expensive to heat, with some rooms much colder than others and in summer the uninsulated home is hot, often warmer than the outside, upstairs rooms almost unbearable.

Such conditions are easy to overcome and the expense is very little and it's only an expense once for there are no maintenance costs later on as is so often the case with many, or in fact most home improvements.

What the average man spends for his "smokes" will pay the entire expense of insulating the average home over a two-year period and at the same time the saving in fuel for heating would be extra saving.

Like most everything, the best is the cheapest and certainly no one will argue, when you have John's Manville "Blown" Rock Wool installed, that you could have bought any insulating that is better at any cost. ### LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK by Hal Boyle

IN GERMANY—A doughboy in the Second Infantry division recently had one of the toughest fights of his life on a day he was a civilian.

Carl C. Patterson of Douglasville, Ga., received a promotion from technical sergeant to second lieutenant.

In such cases there normally is a lapse of a day between the time the soldier receives his discharge as an enlisted man and enters the service as an officer.

On that day Patterson and his men were having an extremely rough fight for the town of Rocherath.

The newly-commissioned lieutenant said if that was a sample of "civilian life" he had just as soon be in the army.

Nominee for the toughest-minded soldier—Pvt. Frank A. Razzano of Brooklyn. A German 77mm shell hit his helmet and bounced off. It was a dud and Pvt. Razzano was back at work in a week with only head bruises.

While looking for new command posts, Capt. Robert A. Pearson of Louisville, Ky., took 23 Germans prisoner.

In a house in Rocherath, he heard voices in the cellar and started to investigate. But a German bounded up, shouting "Kamerad." He was followed by 10 others, including a captain.

Two days later, Pearson entered a house near Schoenesseffen, Germany, to see if it would make a good command post. Again he heard noises in the cellar. This time he got all the way down before he discovered 12 cowering Germans, who surrendered.

Indiana bids for the honor of having the fastest chicken picker in uniform overseas. Staff Sgt. Estes Mauck of Evansville, ruffled the feathers of 43 cluckers in 30 minutes.

Pfc. Emilio D. Tini, Jr., of Philadelphia, was nominated unanimously by his buddies as the most frequent doughboy of the 29th division. Flying shapnel broke a bottle of perfume still in his pocket after a recent shopping trip.

The Stars and Stripes isn't sure what the proprietor of a Paris cafe meant when he hung up this sign in English: "No ladies supplied after 7 p. m."

A joke some friends back home attempted to play on Tech. Sgt. George Hines of Baltimore, Md., backfired on two German prisoners. Driving the prisoners back from the front, Hines offered them cigarettes from a package sent him by homefront buddies. They took a couple of drags. There was a sharp report and one Jerry slid to the floor thinking he had been hit by a sniper. The cigarettes were "loaded."

Pfc. Pete Syrio of Wheeling, W. Va., delivered some ammunition and backed his jeep into some bushes. He heard a cry of fright and jammed on his brakes. The jeep had pinned down a German sniper in a foxhole.

On his way to visit engineer work parties clearing mined roads, Capt. Allan B. Gillis heard a loud explosion. He and his vehicle sailed through the air. The captain wrote a postscript to his daily report: "Jeep removed one mine—and vice versa."

Sergeant Kenneth May of New Haven, Conn., had stripped to his dog tags to bathe and wash his clothes. He hung them on a fence to dry and a shell hit within a foot of them, shredding everything. May, unhurt, spent the rest of the day in a blanket borrowing parts for another uniform.

Mexico has an estimated population of more than 19½ million.

You Give to the Worthiest of Causes when You Give to Your Red Cross

And if you should stop to ask the reason why—the answers are manifold! For this great army, your Red Cross, stretches out a hand of mercy to millions all over the world—soldiers, sailors, marines and civilians. A hand that collects millions of pints of life-saving plasma . . . a hand that delivers millions of sustaining food packages to dejected allied war prisoners . . . a hand that delivers heartening emergency messages from loved ones and to loved ones . . . a hand that brings food and clothing to helpless victims of a ruthless war. Yes, this is your Red Cross that does all these things and more! For over a war-torn world its hand of compassion offers hope and comfort to wrecked souls and maimed bodies. Can an organization whose every fibre is directed at aiding and giving solace to the war weary be denied? Look to your heart for the answer.

Without your generous contributions the Red Cross could not carry on its magnificent and humanitarian work. Your son, husband, brother or sweetheart would be without the plasma needed to save his life . . . without the recreation that keeps up his morale . . . without those important little things that bring a semblance of home into the horrors of battle. Give it a little thought and let your heart write your check.

The principal mechanical fault that causes accidents is faulty brakes. Wiggers' Super Service stations make a specialty of brake adjustments. They are equipped to equalize the brake application so that all wheels work together and with little pressure on the pedal. This work does not take long, nor is the expense great; certainly very, very little compared to the expense that could be caused by neglecting this work even a few minutes.

Insulated Home Ideal
In Winter and Summer

In winter an uninsulated home is drafty, expensive to heat, with some rooms much colder than others and in summer the uninsulated home is hot often warmer than the outside, upstairs rooms almost unbearable.

Such conditions are easy to overcome and the expense is very little and it's only an expense once for there are no maintenance costs later on as is so often the case with many, or in fact most home improvements.

What the average man spends for his "smokes" will pay the entire expense of insulating the average home over a two-year period and at the same time the saving in fuel for heating would be extra saving.

Like most everything, the best is the cheapest and certainly no one will argue when you have John's Manville "Blown" Rock Wool installed, that you could have bought any insulating that is better at any cost.

"The 10 Handsomest Men In America"

Here they are, girls—the ten handsomest men in the U. S. A., according to Katherine Ward Lane, noted Boston sculptress. But, says Miss Lane, Englishmen surpass Americans "just for straight looks." And, just in case you boys get to feeling uppity, she says there are few men of any nationality that she would care to look at for more than five seconds.

LEAVES FROM A WAR
CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK
by Hal Boyle

IN GERMANY—A doughboy in the Second Infantry division recently had one of the toughest fights of his life on a day he was a civilian.

Carl C. Patterson of Douglasville, Ga., received a promotion from technical sergeant to second lieutenant.

In such cases there normally is a lapse of a day between the time the soldier receives his discharge as an enlisted man and enters the service as an officer.

On that day Patterson and his men were having an extremely rough fight for the town of Rocherath.

The newly-commissioned lieutenant said if that was a sample of "civilian life" he had just as soon be in the army.

Nominee for the toughest-minded soldier—Pvt. Frank A. Razzano of Brooklyn. A German 77mm shell hit his helmet and bounced off. It was a dud and Pvt. Razzano was back at work in a week with only head bruises.

While looking for new command posts, Capt. Robert A. Pearson of Louisville, Ky., took 23 Germans prisoner.

In a house in Rocherath, he heard voices in the cellar and started to investigate. But a German bounded up, shouting "Kamerad". He was followed by 10 others, including a captain.

Two days later, Pearson entered a house near Schoeneffien, Germany, to see if it would make a good command post. Again he heard noises in the cellar. This time he got all the way down, before he discovered 12 cowering Germans, who surrendered.

Indiana bids for the honor of having the fastest chicken picker in uniform overseas. Staff Sgt. Estes Mauck of Evansville, ruffled the feathers of 43 cluckers in 30 minutes.

Pfc. Emilio D. Tini, Jr., of Philadelphia, was nominated unanimously by his buddies as the most fragrant doughboy of the 29th division. Flying shapnel broke a bottle of perfume still in his pocket after a recent shopping trip.

The Stars and Stripes isn't sure what the proprietor of a Paris cafe meant when he hung up this sign in English: "No ladies supplied after 7 p. m."

A joke some friends back home attempted to play on Tech. Sergt. George Hines of Baltimore, Md., backfired on two German prisoners. Driving the prisoners back from the front, Hines offered them cigarettes from a package sent him by hometown buddies. They took a couple of drags. There was a sharp report and one Jerry slid to the floor thinking he had been hit by a sniper. The cigarettes were "loaded."

Pfc. Pete Syrolo of Wheeling, W. Va., delivered some ammunition and backed his jeep into some bushes. He heard a cry of fright and jammed on his brakes. The jeep had pinned down a German sniper in a foxhole.

On his way to visit engineer work parties clearing mined roads, Capt. Allan B. Gillis heard a loud explosion. He and his vehicle sailed through the air. The captain wrote a postscript to his daily report: "Jeep removed one mine — and vice versa."

Sergt. Kenneth May of New Haven, Conn., had stripped to his dog tags to bathe and wash his clothes. He hung them on a fence to dry and a shell hit within a foot of them, shredding everything. May, unhurt, spent the rest of the day in a blanket borrowing parts for another uniform.

Mexico has an estimated population of more than 19½ million.

Sees Hard Fight

Admiral William Halsey, 3rd Fleet commander in Washington for a conference, predicts "very tough" fighting on Iwo Jima, but says he doesn't believe the Jap fleet will venture to interfere.

You Give to the Worthiest of Causes
when You Give to Your Red Cross

And if you should stop to ask the reason why—the answers are manifold! For this great army, your Red Cross, stretches out a hand of mercy to millions all over the world—soldiers, sailors, marines and civilians. A hand that collects millions of pints of life-saving plasma ... a hand that delivers millions of sustaining food packages to dejected allied war prisoners ... a hand that delivers heartening emergency messages from loved ones and to loved ones ... a hand that brings food and clothing to helpless victims of a ruthless war. Yes, this is your Red Cross that does all these things and more! For over a war-torn world its hand of compassion offers hope and comfort to wrecked souls and maimed bodies. Can an organization whose every fibre is directed at aiding and giving solace to the war weary be denied? Look to your heart for the answer.

Without your generous contributions the Red Cross could not carry on its magnificent and humanitarian work. Your son, husband, brother or sweetheart would be without the plasma needed to save his life ... without the recreation that keeps up his morale ... without those important little things that bring a semblance of home into the horrors of battle. Give it a little thought and let your heart write your check.

Class A Tournament Opens At South Field House Tuesday

26 Team Field Will Pair Off To Settle Which Two Squads Will Go To Kent Regional

Tournament time is here once again! Tomorrow night at Youngstown South's field house three games, starting at 7 p. m., will mark the opening of the 1945 championship playoffs.

Of the 26 team field, four teams—Salem, Canton McKinley, Youngstown South and Canton Timken—were seeded and placed in separate brackets so that none would meet the other until at least the semi-finals.

McKinley, unbeaten until Mansfield jolted a perfect record 51-36. Friday, has drawn a bye for the first round and won't get into action until Friday's games.

The balance of the teams in McKinley's bracket begin play tomorrow with Warren meeting Alliance at 7. Youngstown Rayen vs Canton Lincoln at 8 and Canton Twp. vs Minerva at 9. Campbell Memorial also drew a bye in the first round.

Wednesday night "seeded" Youngstown South, with a record of 13 wins and four losses, plays Niles at 6 p. m. Canton Lehman meets Newton Falls at 7. Scienceville plays Youngstown East at 8 and the finale is between "seeded" Canton Timken and Youngstown Ursuline.

Salem Plays Thursday
Salem swings into action Thursday at 7 when they tee off with the best tournament prospects a Quaker team has had in years. Struthers, already beaten once by the Quakers this year, is the obstacle in the path of the locals. After Struthers, if they win, the locals will meet Girard in the second round. Girard drew a bye in tourney preliminaries.

All prospects today indicated that Coach Miller would have his full varsity squad ready for action Thursday. Jimmie Appedisian, though a bit thinner and still troubled with a hand infection, will probably be ready to go. Appedisian is a regular at guard and would be sorely missed in tourney play.

Clippertown's Basketball Team Is Best In 20 Years

It isn't often a basketball team goes through a 16-game schedule undefeated, but that's exactly what Columbiana's Clippers determined to do, and did, this year.

Posting a string of 16 victories without a bad night, the Clippers performed a feat that hasn't been accomplished in Columbiana for more than 20 years.

With their first goal achieved, the Clippers are now settling down for some gruelling tournament play with their big guns aimed directly at the Ohio Class B title.

Whether they can hit that distant target is a question, but they have all the material behind them that goes to make a championship squad.

In winning all their games this season, the Clippers also copied their second straight Tri-County loop crown, which, incidentally, is the sixth the school has won since the organization of the league in 1932.

An average of 61 points per game was chalked up by the high-scoring outfit, which dumped through a total of 984 points during the regular season.

Opponents, held to a 31 point average, scored 496 points in the 16 games.

Case leading scorer

Leading the individual records is diminutive Harry Case with 239 points in 16 games. The highest game mark of the year was his in the Louisville game, when he tallied 33.

Big Harry Hollinger scored 225 points, Larry Keck 181, Bill Newell 113, Bob Engle 67, Don Evans 56 and Keith Laughlin 51.

The highest total of the year was posted in the last game, when the Clippers downed East Palestine 87-43. The second highest came in the Fairfield fray which they won 85-38.

Only in one game—with Salem—did the Columbiana squad have trouble and appear hard pressed.

The Clippers edged Salem 40-39 in their closest shave of the year, but in all the others they were never less than 12 points better than the opposition.

Miller-Cabas Combination

Probably a large contributing factor to the growing success of the Columbiana athletic program is the successful cooperation between Coach John Cabas, now in his first year, and Principal and Faculty Manager Edgar Miller.

Miller, an ardent sport enthusiast and a former coach in his own right, has been with Columbiana High school for 20 years, three years as coach and 17 as principal and faculty manager.

Amiable and hard working, Miller does his all to push Clipper teams to the front and is credited by coach and players as being a big cog in the current upward trend in Clippertown.

The coach, a former Mount Union football and basketball star, came to Columbiana from Wells-ville last year. He turned out one of the best grid aggregations the town has ever seen and pulled down second spot in the Tri-County loop with it. His gridgers won six and lost two.

A former quarterback on New Castle's undefeated team in 1934 and 35, Cabas also played as a regular on the basketball team which ended up in the second spot in the state tournament in 1936.

Coach Quiet, Unassuming

He graduated from Mount Union in 1940 after three years as quarterback and halfback there. He also played varsity basketball.

The new Clipper coach is quiet and unassuming, with a friendly attitude toward his boys rather than straight instructive coaching. He works, he says, with the idea that he is coaching "like he would like to be coached."

Cabas's assignment from here on this year won't be an easy one. The Clippers, a seeded team, begin tournament operations at McDonald at 7 p. m. Friday against a potent Champion squad.

Champion won the Trumbull county tournament and enters the sectional with a good rating. Should the Clippers down Champion, they will go on to play the winner of the Vienna-Lowellville-Springfield Twp. combination.

Cabas says his team is ready and pointed for the title.

Yank Soldier Hairdos Chase Away Mosquitoes

ST. LOUIS—American soldiers in Pacific island jungles now may primp and shoo mosquitoes with a single motion.

A chemical company here has this explanation for a heavier-than-expected demand for dimethyl phthalate, intended as an insect repellent for use by the armed forces:

"A soldier trying to ward off insects plastered the stuff on his hair. He learned it kept the insects away and also kept his hair in place, drying without residual traces."

"Word went the rounds and dimethyl phthalate is now an accepted hair dressing—in the jungles."

Coach John Cabas

Akron Shooting For Best Ohio Record As Several Teams Rate Tourney Bids

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26.—Akron university's bid for the best won-and-lost record of state colleges to go with at least a share of the Ohio Conference crown, Ohio State's watchful waiting in the Big Ten and the possibility that one or two Buckeye schools may get bids to national tournaments added spice today to the final week of the regular 1944-45 college basketball season.

Posting a string of 16 victories without a bad night, the Clippers performed a feat that hasn't been accomplished in Columbiana for more than 20 years.

With their first goal achieved, the Clippers are now settling down for some gruelling tournament play with their big guns aimed directly at the Ohio Class B title.

Whether they can hit that distant target is a question, but they have all the material behind them that goes to make a championship squad.

In winning all their games this season, the Clippers also copied their second straight Tri-County loop crown, which, incidentally, is the sixth the school has won since the organization of the league in 1932.

An average of 61 points per game was chalked up by the high-scoring outfit, which dumped through a total of 984 points during the regular season.

Opponents, held to a 31 point average, scored 496 points in the 16 games.

Case Leading Scorer Leading the individual records is diminutive Harry Case with 239 points in 16 games. The highest game mark of the year was his in the Louisville game, when he tallied 33.

Big Harry Hollinger scored 225 points, Larry Keck 181, Bill Newell 113, Bob Engle 67, Don Evans 56 and Keith Laughlin 51.

The highest total of the year was posted in the last game, when the Clippers downed East Palestine 87-43. The second highest came in the Fairfield fray which they won 85-38.

Only in one game—with Salem—did the Columbiana squad have trouble and appear hard pressed. The Clippers edged Salem 40-39 in their closest shave of the year, but in all the others they were never less than 12 points better than the opposition.

Miller-Cabas Combination Probably a large contributing factor to the growing success of the Columbiana athletic program is the successful cooperation between Coach John Cabas, now in his first year, and Principal and Faculty Manager Edgar Miller.

Miller an ardent sport enthusiast and a former coach in his own right, has been with Columbiana High school for 20 years, three years as coach and 17 as principal and faculty manager.

Amiable and hard working, Miller does his all to push Clipper teams to the front and is credited by coach and players as being a big cog in the current upward trend in Clippertown.

The coach, a former Mount Union football and basketball star, came to Columbiana from Wells-ville last year. He turned out one of the best grid aggregations the town has ever seen and pulled down second spot in the Tri-County loop with it. His gridgers won six and lost two.

A former quarterback on New Castle's undefeated team in 1934 and 35, Cabas also played as a regular on the basketball team which ended up in the second spot in the state tournament in 1936.

Coach Quiet, Unassuming He graduated from Mount Union in 1940 after three years as quarterback and halfback there. He also played varsity basketball.

The new Clipper coach is quiet and unassuming, with a friendly attitude toward his boys rather than straight instructive coaching. He works, he says, with the idea that he is coaching "like he would like to be coached."

Cabas' assignment from here on this year won't be an easy one. The Clippers, a seeded team, begin tournament operations at McDonald at 7 p. m. Friday against a potent champion squad.

Champion won the Trumbull county tournament and enters the sectional with a good rating. Should the Clippers down Champion, they will go on to play the winner of the Vienna-Lowellville-Springfield Twp. combination.

Cabas says his team is ready and pointed for the title.

Yank Soldier Hairdos Chase Away Mosquitoes

ST. LOUIS—American soldiers in Pacific island jungles now may primp and shoo mosquitoes with a single motion.

A chemical company here has this explanation for a heavier-than-expected demand for dimethyl phthalate, intended as an insect repellent for use by the armed forces:

"A soldier trying to ward off insects plastered the stuff on his hair. He learned it kept the insects away and also kept his hair in place, drying without residual traces."

"Word went the rounds and dimethyl phthalate is now an accepted hair dressing—in the jungles."

Akron Shooting For Best Ohio Record As Several Teams Rate Tourney Bids

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26.—Akron university's bid for the best won-and-lost record of state colleges to go with at least a share of the Ohio Conference crown, Ohio State's watchful waiting in the Big Ten and the possibility that one or two Buckeye schools may get bids to national tournaments added spice today to the final week of the regular 1944-45 college basketball season.

The Zippers from Akron clinched at least a tie for the Conference crown last week when they crushed Heidelberg and they can finish with the best over-all percentage record of any team in the state by whipping Wooster and Westminster (Pa.) this week. A victory over Wooster would give them the Conference crown. A defeat would let Otterbein tie for first place if it beats Wooster tonight.

Akron will play Wooster Wednesday night and Westminster Saturday night. A defeat would move Bowling Green back into the top spot which it relinquished last week after being upset by Baldwin-Wallace.

Ohio State's basketball interest will be centered on Iowa. The Bucks finished their season Saturday night by crushing Indiana, 85-52, but they'll have to wait and see what happens when Iowa plays Minnesota and Illinois this week before they know their final position in the Big Ten. One defeat for Iowa would leave the Hawkeyes and the Bucks tied for the Conference title. Two linkings for the Iowa would give Ohio State the undisputed crown for the second straight year.

Class A Tournament Opens At South Field House Tuesday

26 Team Field Will Pair Off To Settle Which Two Squads Will Go To Kent Regional

Tournament time is here once again! Tomorrow night at Youngstown South's field house three games, starting at 7 p. m., will mark the opening of the 1945 championship playoffs.

Of the 26 team field, four teams—Salem, Canton McKinley, Youngstown South and Canton Timken—were seeded and placed in separate brackets so that none would meet the other until at least the semi-finals.

McKinley, unbeaten until Mansfield jolted a perfect record 51-36, Friday, has drawn a bye for the first round and won't get into action until Friday's games.

The balance of the teams in McKinley's bracket begin play tomorrow with Warren meeting Alliance at 7, Youngstown Rayen vs Canton Lincoln at 8 and Canton Twp. vs Minerva at 9. Campbell Memorial also drew a bye in the first round.

Wednesday night "seeded" Youngstown South, with a record of 13 wins and four losses, plays Niles at 6 p. m. Canton Lehman meets Newton Falls at 7, Sciencerville plays Youngstown East at 8 and the finale is between "seeded" Canton Timken and Youngstown Ursuline.

Salem Plays Thursday
Salem swings into action Thursday at 7 when they tee off with the best tournament prospects a Quaker team has had in years. Struthers, already beaten once by the Quakers this year, is the obstacle in the path of the locals. After Struthers, if they win, the locals will meet Girard in the second round. Girard drew a bye in tourney preliminaries.

All prospects today indicated that Coach Miller would have his full varsity squad ready for action Thursday. Jimmie Appedisan, though a bit thinner and still troubled with a hand infection, will probably be ready to go. Appedisan is a regular at guard and would be sorely missed in tourney play.

Clippertown's Basketball Team Is Best In 20 Years

It isn't often a basketball team goes through a 16-game schedule undefeated, but that's exactly what Columbiana's Clippers determined to do, and did, this year.

Posting a string of 16 victories without a bad night, the Clippers performed a feat that hasn't been accomplished in Columbiana for more than 20 years.

With their first goal achieved, the Clippers are now settling down for some gruelling tournament play with their big guns aimed directly at the Ohio Class B title.

Whether they can hit that distant target is a question, but they have all the material behind them that goes to make a championship squad.

In winning all their games this season, the Clippers also copied their second straight Tri-County loop crown, which, incidentally, is the sixth the school has won since the organization of the league in 1932.

An average of 61 points per game was chalked up by the high-scoring outfit, which dumped through a total of 984 points during the regular season.

Opponents, held to a 31 point average, scored 496 points in the 16 games.

Case Leading Scorer

Leading the individual records is diminutive Harry Case with 239 points in 16 games. The highest game mark of the year was his in the Louisville game, when he tallied 33.

Big Harry Hollinger scored 225 points, Larry Keck 181, Bill Newell 113, Bob Engle 87, Don Evans 56 and Keith Laughlin 51.

The highest total of the year was posted in the last game, when the Clippers downed East Palestine 87-43. The second highest came in the Fairfield fray which they won 85-38.

Only in one game—with Salem—did the Columbiana squad have trouble and appear hard pressed. The Clippers edged Salem 40-39 in their closest shave of the year, but in all the others they were never less than 12 points better than the opposition.

Miller-Cabas Combination

Probably a large contributing factor to the growing success of the Columbiana athletic program is the successful cooperation between Coach John Cabas, now in his first year, and Principal and Faculty Manager Edgar Miller.

Miller, an ardent sport enthusiast and a former coach in his own right, has been with Columbiana High school for 20 years, three years as coach and 17 as principal and faculty manager.

Amiable and hard working, Miller does his all to push Clipper teams to the front and is credited by coach and players as being a big cog in the current upward trend in Clippertown.

The coach, a former Mount Union football and basketball star, came to Columbiana from Wells-ville last year. He turned out one of the best grid aggregations the town has ever seen and pulled down second spot in the Tri-County loop with it. His gridgers won six and lost two.

A former quarterback on New Castle's undefeated team in 1934 and 35, Cabas also played as a regular on the basketball team which ended up in the second spot in the state tournament in 1936.

Coach Quiet, Unassuming

He graduated from Mount Union in 1940 after three years as quarterback and halfback there. He also played varsity basketball.

The new Clipper coach is quiet and unassuming, with a friendly attitude toward his boys rather than straight instructive coaching. He works, he says, with the idea that he is coaching "like he would like to be coached."

Cabas' assignment from here on this year won't be an easy one. The Clippers, a seeded team, begin tournament operations at McDonald at 7 p. m. Friday against a potent Champion squad.

Champion won the Trumbull county tournament and enters the sectional with a good rating. Should the Clippers down Champion, they will go on to play the winner of the Vienna-Lowellville-Springfield Twp. combination.

Cabas says his team is ready and pointed for the title.

Yank Soldier Hairdos Chase Away Mosquitoes

ST. LOUIS—American soldiers in Pacific island jungles now may primp and shoo mosquitoes with a single motion.

A chemical company here has this explanation for a heavier-than-expected demand for dimethyl phthalate, intended as an insect repellent for use by the armed forces: "A soldier trying to ward off insects plastered the stuff on his hair. He learned it kept the insects away and also kept his hair in place, drying without residual traces."

"Word went the rounds and dimethyl phthalate is now an accepted hair dressing—in the jungles."

Akron Shooting For Best Ohio Record As Several Teams Rate Tourney Bids

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26.—Akron university's bid for the best won-and-lost record of state colleges to go with at least a share of the Ohio Conference crown, Ohio State's watchful waiting in the Big Ten and the possibility that one or two Buckeye schools may get bids to national tournaments added spice today to the final week of the regular 1944-45 college basketball season.

The Zippers from Akron clinched at least a tie for the Conference crown last week when they crushed Heidelberg and they can finish with the best over-all percentage record of any team in the state by whipping Wooster and Westminster (Pa.) this week. A victory over Wooster would give them the Conference crown. A defeat would let Otterbein tie for first place if it beats Wooster tonight.

Akron will play Wooster Wednesday night and Westminster Saturday night. A defeat would move Bowling Green back into the top spot which it relinquished last week after being upset by Baldwin-Wallace.

Ohio State's basketball interest will be centered on Iowa. The Bucks finished their season Saturday night by crushing Indiana, 85-52, but they'll have to wait and see what happens when Iowa plays Minnesota and Illinois this week before they know their final position in the Big Ten. One defeat for Iowa would leave the Hawkeyes and the Bucks tied for the Conference title. Two likings for the Iowa would give Ohio State the undisputed crown for the second straight year.

The 85 points scored against Indiana amounted to a new Ohio State all-time scoring and a new high for the Big Ten this season.

Ponder Tourney Bids

Whether Ohio will be represented in the big national tournaments remains to be seen but is known that Bowling Green has received "feelers" as possible contender in the Madison Square Garden invitational meet. It looked as if the Bee Gees were "in" after they beat Great Lakes last week but that setback by Baldwin-Wallace may have hurt a little.

If Ohio State wins or ties for the championship the Bucks certainly would be on the "eligible" list for the National Collegiate Athletic association tournament. They might be in line if they only finish second because there have been reports Iowa might not be interested.

Akron went outside the Ohio loop Saturday night to drub Ohio university, 62 to 50, for its 20th victory in 21 games.

At least a second place spot in the loop race was clinched by Otterbein Saturday night as the Cardinals walloped Wittenberg, 63 to 27. A game with Wooster tonight ends Otterbein's season. Capital pulled into a third place tie with Denison with a 70 to 34 triumph over Heidelberg.

Bowling Green roared back from its defeat by Baldwin-Wallace to thump Case, 74 to 42, and finish the regular season with 22 victories and two defeats. The Falcons averaged 38 points a contest over the 24-game route. If they get a bid to the Madison Square Garden tournament they'll have to play without the services of Don Whitehead, the regular guard, who winds up his work at Bowling Green this week.

FITCH CAPTURES B TOURNAMENT TITLE

Pushing to the front after a first quarter deadlock, Austintown Fitch High cagers captured the Mahoning county "B" tournament championship Saturday night by defeating Springfield Township, 39-33.

A crowd of 1,600 at the South Field House, saw three rivals, who upset the two "seeded" entries Friday, wage a close fight during the early stages. Both continue in sectional play at McDonald.

Lowellville won the consolation title and third berth in the McDonald meet, rallying to beat North Lima, 48-42.

Class A Tournament Opens At South Field House Tuesday

26 Team Field Will Pair Off To Settle Which Two Squads Will Go To Kent Regional

Tournament time is here once again! Tomorrow night at Youngstown South's field house three games, starting at 7 p. m., will mark the opening of the 1945 championship playoffs.

Of the 26 team field, four teams—Salem, Canton McKinley, Youngstown South and Canton Timken—were seeded and placed in separate brackets so that none would meet the other until at least the semi-finals.

McKinley, unbeaten until Mansfield jolted a perfect record 51-36. Friday, has drawn a bye for the first round and won't get into action until Friday's games.

The balance of the teams in McKinley's bracket begin play tomorrow with Warren meeting Alliance at 7, Youngstown Rayen vs Canton Lincoln at 8 and Canton Twp. vs Minerva at 9. Campbell Memorial also drew a bye in the first round.

Wednesday night "seeded" Youngstown South, with a record of 13 wins and four losses, plays Niles at 6 p. m. Canton, Lehman meets Newton Falls at 7. Scienceville plays Youngstown East at 8 and the final is between "seeded" Canton Timken and Youngstown Ursuline.

Salem Plays Thursday
Salem swings into action Thursday at 7 when they tee off with the best tournament prospects a Quaker team has had in years. Struthers, already beaten once by the Quakers this year, is the obstacle in the path of the locals. After Struthers, if they win, the locals will meet Girard in the second round. Girard drew a bye in tourney preliminaries.

All prospects today indicated that Coach Miller would have his full varsity squad ready for action Thursday. Jimmie Appedisian, though a bit thinner and still troubled with a hand infection, will probably be ready to go. Appedisian is a regular at guard and would be sorely missed in tourney play.

UNBEATEN COLUMBIANA CAGERS GROOMING FOR STATE CLASS B TITLE

Clippertown's Basketball Team Is Best In 20 Years

It isn't often a basketball team goes through a 16-game schedule undefeated, but that's exactly what Columbiana's Clippers determined to do, and did, this year.

Posting a string of 16 victories without a bad night, the Clippers performed a feat that hasn't been accomplished in Columbiana for more than 20 years.

With their first goal achieved, the Clippers are now settling down for some gruelling tournament play with their big guns aimed directly at the Ohio Class B title.

Whether they can hit that distant target is a question, but they have all the material behind them that goes to make a championship squad.

In winning all their games this season, the Clippers also copied their second straight Tri-County loop crown, which, incidentally, is the sixth the school has won since the organization of the league in 1932.

An average of 61 points per game was chalked up by the high-scoring outfit, which dumped through a total of 984 points during the regular season.

Opponents, held to a 31 point average, scored 496 points in the 16 games.

Case Leading Scorer
Leading the individual records is diminutive Harry Case with 239 points in 16 games. The highest game mark of the year was his in the Louisville game, when he tallied 33.

Big Harry Hollinger scored 225 points, Larry Keck 181, Bill Newell 113, Bob Engle 67, Don Evans 56 and Keith Laughlin 51.

The highest total of the year was posted in the last game, when the Clippers downed East Palestine 87-43. The second highest came in the Fairfield fray which they won 85-38.

Only in one game—with Salem—did the Columbiana squad have trouble and appear hard pressed. The Clippers edged Salem 40-39 in their closest shave of the year, but in all the others they were never less than 12 points better than the opposition.

Miller-Cabas Combination
Probably a large contributing factor to the growing success of the Columbiana athletic program is the successful cooperation between Coach John Cabas, now in his first year, and Principal and Faculty Manager Edgar Miller.

Miller, an ardent sport enthusiast and a former coach in his own right, has been with Columbiana High school for 20 years, three years as coach and 17 as principal and faculty manager.

Amiable and hard working, Miller does his all to push Clipper teams to the front and is credited by coach and players as being a big cog in the current upward trend in Clippertown.

The coach, a former Mount Union football and basketball star, came to Columbiana from Wells-ville last year. He turned out one of the best grid aggregations the town has ever seen and pulled down second spot in the Tri-County loop with it. His gridgers won six and lost two.

A former quarterback on New Castle's undefeated team in 1934 and 35, Cabas also played as a regular on the basketball team which ended up in the second spot in the state tournament in 1936.

Coach Quiet, Unassuming
He graduated from Mount Union in 1940 after three years as quarterback and halfback there. He also played varsity basketball.

The new Clipper coach is quiet and unassuming, with a friendly attitude toward his boys rather than straight instructive coaching. He works, he says, with the idea that he is coaching "like he would like to be coached."

Cabas' assignment from here on this year won't be an easy one. The Clippers, a seeded team, begin tournament operations at McDonald at 7 p. m. Friday against a potent champion squad.

Champion won the Trumbull county tournament and enters the sectional with a good rating. Should the Clippers down Champion, they will go on to play the winner of the Vienna-Lowellville-Springfield Twp. combination.

Cabas says his team is ready and pointed for the title.

ST. LOUIS—American soldiers in Pacific island jungles now may primp and shoo mosquitoes with a single motion.

A chemical company here has this explanation for a heavier-than-expected demand for dimethyl phthalate, intended as an insect repellent for use by the armed forces:

"A soldier trying to ward off insects plastered the stuff on his hair. He learned it kept the insects away and also kept his hair in place, drying without residual traces."

"Word went the rounds and dimethyl phthalate is now an accepted hair dressing—in the jungles."

Delicate Operation On Heart Saves Life Of Ohio Negro Vet

CAMBRIDGE, Feb. 26.—Pfc. Edward Crutcher of Cincinnati sat on his bed at the Army's Fletcher General Hospital grinning his wild-eyed grin.

Six weeks ago doctors said the 31-year-old Negro was a hopeless heart case with six months or possibly a year to live—today he was on the road to recovery.

Col. Claude S. Beck, surgical consultant for the Fifth Service Command, Columbus, performed on Crutcher one of the most delicate operations—removal of the outer layer of the pericardium the covering of the heart.

Crutcher was stricken while working as a stevedore in the invasion of Italy. He was treated in the Mediterranean theater and then carried back into the United States on a litter.

Diagnosis at Fletcher hospital was "calcified pericarditis," which meant a crust of calcium had formed over the heart covering, thickening inward and compressing the heart to three-quarters of its normal size. Hospital doctors said the trouble probably started 18 years or so ago following a heart infection.

A few weeks ago, Col. Beck labored four and a half hours chipping away the calcium wall choking Crutcher's heart.

Today he said indications are that the soldier's recovery will be "full and complete without any restrictions on his future life."

pean market which has been counted upon to support American production for a couple of years, the decline of the demand on account of the release of domestic labor in war plants and the vast surplus on hand in the army warehouses and pipelines and in the Commodity Credit Corp. is going to drop on the American farmer the greatest surplus of food and fibers ever known in the history of the world. Would you concur in that statement?"

"Entirely," replied Olmstead.

The income of the average American farmer is now the highest in history. Testimony of Commodity Credit Corp. officials made public by the committee placed per capita farm income in 1944 at an estimated $530, compared with $179 in 1940. But the farmer's peak is only about half the average income of non-farmers, the officials testified.

The demand for federal old-age retirement benefits increased steadily last year and is continuing at a near high level. The reason (as advanced to the committee by Chairman Arthur Altmeyer of the Social Security board): "Those older people who have not been retiring, in order to continue work to help in the war effort, now find that their health is such that they cannot continue."

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Twenty-seven Filipino fighter pilots, who fought afoot with guerrilla bands during the three years of Japanese occupation of the Philippines, have been returned to the U. S. for refresher courses at Randolph field, Texas.

The war-developed planes of Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney's Far Eastern air force were too "hot" for them to handle with safety, for the last stepped into a plane's cockpit in outdated pre-Pearl Harbor ships.

Instead of flying they acted as intelligence officers, transmitting vital war information to the outside world or roving with guerrillas in attacks on Japanese communications.

were using 40 divisions or up to 600,000 men.

The great Ruhr and Rhineland city of Duesseldorf, with a population of 540,000, was less than 20 miles from the Ninth army. Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's troops closed within a mile of the heavy fortified communications center of Erkelenz and nine of the fringe of the Ruhr industrial region and Meunchen Gladbach.

The Americans fought 26 miles deep in Germany and less than four miles from the Rhine river where five German divisions offering "light to moderate resistance" on the Cologne plain were expected to make a supreme stand to bar the Americans from the Rhine.

South of the Cologne plain, the American Third army broke into a run in advances of seven miles which carried the Fourth armored division to the Nims river in the vicinity of Bitburg. A dozen or more towns fell to Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's troops sweeping toward Koblenz.

North of the Cologne plain, Field Marshal Montgomery intensified his attacks behind the breached Siegfried line and moved his Canadian First army within 1,000 yards of stoutly defended Calcar, two miles from the Rhine. These forces were 45 miles north of the Ninth army flank moving toward the Ruhr, Germany's greatest arsenal.

The American seventh army invading the Saar district, Germany's second industrial region, widened its front inside Germany within sight of the ruins of Saarbrücken.

27 FILIPINO PILOTS GET U. S. TRAINING

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Twenty-seven Filipino fighter pilots, who fought aloft with guerrilla bands during the three years of Japanese occupation of the Philippines, have been returned to the U. S. for refresher courses at Randolph field, Texas.

The war-developed planes of Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney's Far Eastern air force were too "hot" for them to handle with safety, for the last stepped into a plane's cockpit in outdated pre-Pearl Harbor ships.

Instead of flying they acted as intelligence officers, transmitting vital war information to the outside world or roving with guerrillas in attacks on Japanese communications.

were using 40 divisions or up to 600,000 men.

The great Ruhr and Rhineland city of Dusseldorf, with a population of 540,000, was less than 20 miles from the Ninth army, Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's troops closed within a mile of the heavy fortified communications center of Erkelzen and nine of the fringe of the Ruhr industrial region and Meunchen Gladbach.

The Americans fought 26 miles deep in Germany and less than four miles from the Elft river where five German divisions offering "light to moderate resistance" on the Cologne plain were expected to make a supreme stand to bar the Americans from the Rhine.

South of the Cologne plain, the American Third army broke into a run in advances of seven miles which carried the Fourth armored division to the Nims river in the vicinity of Bitburg. A dozen or more towns fell to Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's troops sweeping toward Koblenz.

North of the Cologne plain, Field Marshal Montgomery intensified his attacks behind the breached Siegfried line and moved his Canadian First army within 1,000 yards of stoutly defended Calcar, two miles from the Rhine. These forces were 45 miles north of the Ninth army flank moving toward the Ruhr, Germany's greatest arsenal.

The American seventh army invading the Saar district, Germany's second industrial region, widened its front inside Germany within sight of the ruins of Saarbruecken.

This was the last airfield in Japanese hands. A third field, in the northern part of the island, is under construction but far from completion.

The fanatical Japanese defenders were using the most modern weapons they have shown yet in the Pacific, including rockets weighing more than 1,000 pounds, heavy mortars, heavy land mines, pillboxes four feet thick, and an extensive underground system of interlocking strongholds.

Most of the hillside caves are 30 to 40 feet deep.
